According to Rengo, Lewa died
fighting heroically...

SPIRITS

The Soul Collector

BY COLIN LAWLER
& JOSEPH GRABOWSKI

The dark spirit... was it Canis?

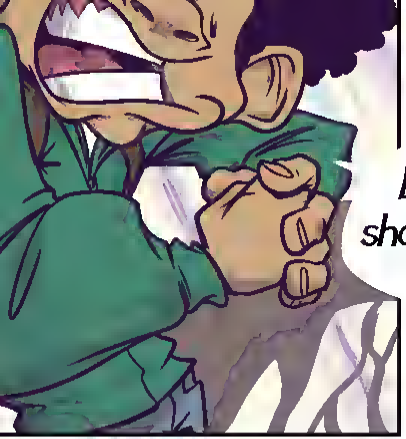
Hard to say.

The Captain believes so, but he wasn't there.

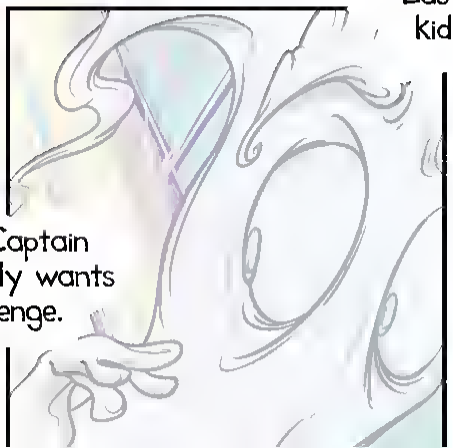
It was only Rengo and Lewa at the time.

Aside from being caught by surprise in thick, murky waters, Rengo was badly injured.

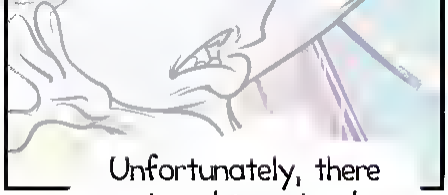
He doesn't remember.



Lux and Rengo should pulverize the dark spirits!

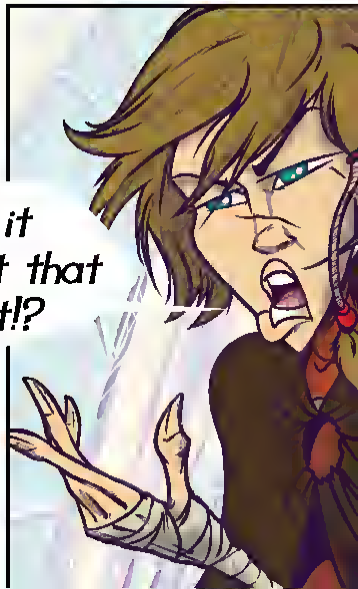


Easy, kid.
The Captain obviously wants revenge.



Unfortunately, there exists a long-standing peace treaty between the light and dark spirits.

Even though it was a dark spirit that attacked first!?



Look,

the detoils of the underwoter ottock ore based solely on Rengo's obility to recount whot occurred.

We may all believe it to have been Canis,

but none of us can say for certain it was him,

or any other dark spirit.

Without crystal clear evidence, Belos rejected Lux's request to hunt for the son of the Dark Elder.

But...

we are on our way to see the Light Elder ourselves, to ask him for help doing
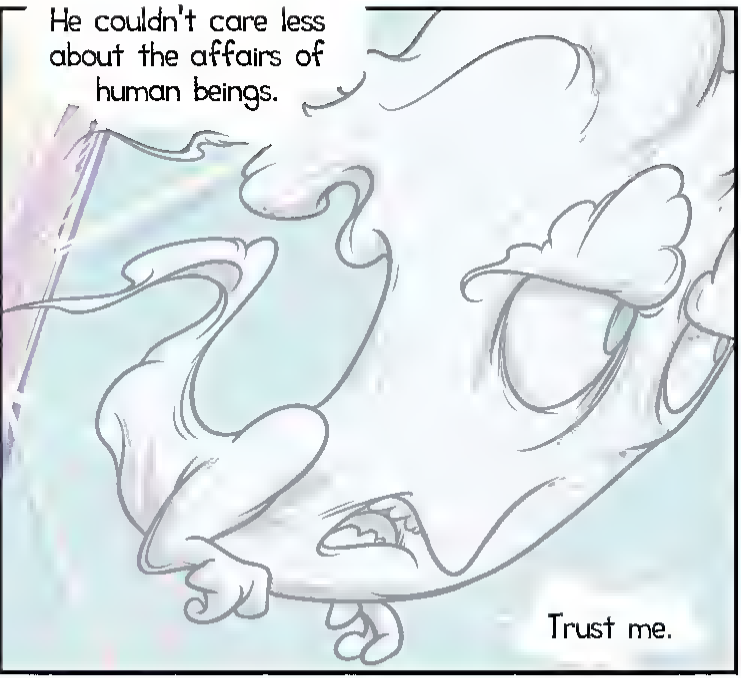
the exact same thing.

You?
You're going to ask Belos the Elder to potentially start a war with the dark spirits?
Kid, Belos came to this planet 66 million years ago.

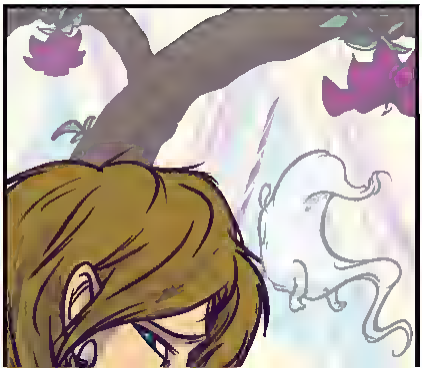


He couldn't care less about the affairs of human beings.
Trust me.

All he ever does is lounge in the middle of his city, basking in the light of the sun spirits.

But...

but what about Kenny?



We have some information that we think might change his mind.

I sincerely hope you do.

Do my ears hear the gentle voice of Norah?

This be a wonderful surprise!

Thank you for reading.
We love you.

More episodes to come.
Please subscribe, share, comment,
and accept all, regardless of race, belief, gender,
or sexuality.
Even giant glowing humanoid
bird people.

Written by Joseph Grabowski and Colin Lawler

Illustrated by Colin Lawler

Coloring and Lettering Assisted by Joseph Grabowski

www.spiritscomic.com